History Month

Author Virginia Morton (Marching Through Culpeper) will talk about women during the Civil War at 3 p.m. on Sunday, March 21, at the Bealeton Library.

Mrs. Morton, a frequent speaker at Civil War roundtables, civic groups, libraries and book clubs, will also present a dynamic slide show giving an overview of the war in Culpeper.

Friends Book Cellar Bigger and Better

The Book Cellar has doubled in space and it now has a "real bookstore" feel. All categories have expanded and books are at bargain basement prices. There are books practically hot off the presses and some hard-to-find and out-of-print books. Books for the kids, books for yourself, books-on-tape to make hours commuting actually enjoyable...come have fun shopping for fiction and nonfiction alike — we have it all. You can even pick up a nice book tote to haul your bargains home.

All proceeds from the Book Cellar help to sponsor library programs and special events.

Memberships Appreciated

The Friends of the Fauquier Library would greatly appreciate continued support from members with renewed annual memberships. To make it easier to know when your membership expires, we are putting your membership expiration date on the bottom of your mailing label. To see where your membership dollars are spent, take a look at the programs listed on the reverse. These programs, along with items desperately needed by the library to offer the best services possible, are purchased with membership dollars.

After years in the planning and construction phases, the new Bealeton Library is open, and is running smoothly. Located just off Route 17 at 10877 Willow Drive, the building was constructed in the arts and crafts style to compliment the old depot, which was moved to adjacent to the library.

The depot will be used as a community and program room after undergoing renovation. The library was designed to allow access to its kitchen and restroom areas when the depot is used after regular library hours.

A library for all to enjoy!

Annual Meeting Set

The Friends annual meeting is set for April 22, 2004, at 5 p.m. in the Children's Room at the Warrenton Library. The meeting will be held in conjunction with the library's Volunteer Celebration, which honors those who contribute time to the library. All members are welcome to attend.
